Staff attention was first class

I WOULD like to send a big thank you to two staff at the Wynnum Hospital, Dr Celia and Nurse Joy. I took my nine-month old son to Wynnum Hospital last week after I was unable to get an appointment with my GP.

We received excellent, fast treatment. Both Celia and Joy had a genuine passion for their jobs and for the wellbeing of my son.

Wynnum Hospital has been subject to much criticism recently and I wanted to remind people of some of the great work the doctors and nurses do.

Wakerley

NO CRITICISM: A reader was delighted with prompt medical attention for her child.

WEB WORDS

questnews.com.au

HOT TOPIC: For the past month the Herald has been covering a range of stories regarding Wynnum Hospital. Last week our story "Mum up in arms over big blunder" generated a lot of feedback online. Here are some of the comments from our readers. Read more at questnews.com.au

NURSING HOME
"Anyone who is a local knows it isn't a proper hospital, it's basically an elderly nursing care facility."
KK

INJURY VISITS FINE
"I have needed to go to Wynnum Hospital on quite a few occasions, including for injuries. A bad finger injury required an X-ray and they rang the radiologist who'd just gone home and recalled him to do the job. I've never had any problems."
Fiona

LIMITED EQUIPMENT
"A few years ago I broke my finger and the doctor at Wynnum Hospital insisted it was dislocated. My GP said the Wynnum Dr should have splinted it and told me to come back the next day when the X-ray dept was open as it set bent."

Lynn

NEEDED SURGERY
"We took our daughter to the Wynnum Hospital with a suspected broken arm. We had X-ray done and was told it was all fine. Ended up at the Mater five days later with our little girl needing surgery and her bone wired back in place. I'd steer clear."
N.W of Wynnum

BROKEN WRIST MISS
"Wynnum Hospital is terrible! I broke my wrist a few years back and they told me the same thing, it's not broken. So I went to the Mater and sure enough was broken. Wake up Wynnum Hospital."
Az of Wakerley

Thanks for the sign support

TO the 1250 people who signed my petition to keep the Tom Burns Place sign in its original position in the park along Wynnum North Esplanade, I would like to offer a heartfelt thank you.

With your help, common sense has prevailed and the application to council to have the sign moved has been denied.

I felt the location of the sign was important as Tom spent a lot of his time in that spot, reflecting on Moreton Bay.

I'm very grateful that so many of you agreed.

Holdin' our breath for a Ford

ALL we want for Christmas is our ute back!

On Saturday, November 26 at 8pm our Ford Courier ute was stolen from the grassed area between the Red Rooster and the Shangri-La Gardens on Wynnum Rd.

The back was loaded with garden waste ready for a dump run. It's a grey single-cab utility with aluminium trayback and two large aluminium toolboxes on the back. The rego number is 505-JCX.

Please call Wynnum police on 3308 8122 if you can help.
